FAVORITISM IN CAR ALLOTMENT

Suit in Federal Court Charges Discrimination in Distribution.

Charging discrimination in the distribution of freight cars in violation of a Federal statute, suit was instituted in the United States District Court yesterday by the Richmond Cotton Oil Company against the German-American Car Company, a corporation alleged to own a majority of the tank cars in use in this country. Damages in the sum of $5,000 for injury to business as a result of the alleged failure are asked.

In their declaration J. W. Dwyer and E. C. Baker, of the Richmond Cotton Oil Company, claim that the German-American Car Company entered into a contract with them for the delivery of three 9,000-pound tank cars during the month of September, 1931. Believing the contract to have been made in good faith, the Richmond Cotton Oil Company contracted for the delivery of certain oil during that month. It is now charged that the car company did not deliver the cars according to contract, discriminating in the distribution, and that great loss of financial profit and business reputation was sustained by the plaintiffs. It is charged that at the time the German-American Car Company failed or refused to live up to its contract, there was apparent no general car shortage or other obvious reason why the contract should not have been complied with.

SAYS THEY BURIED MURDERED MAN

Police Informed That Negro Killed on Sunday Was Concealed by His Slayers.

A report, based upon somewhat indefinite information furnished him by a citizen, was made to the Henrico County police last night by Mounted Officer Teot to the effect that a negro had been shot and killed Sunday morning in a field on the Nine Mile Road, not far from Oakwood Cemetery, and that his body had been buried by his assailants to hide the crime. It was nearly 9 o'clock when Deputy Sheriff Joe Lane was informed of the reported murder, and he said that the county police would be unable to make an investigation until this morning.

According to the details supplied by E. M. Jenkins, of 214 North Twenty-fifth Street, to Officer Teot, a crowd of negroes had gathered in the field to shoot craps. A quarrel followed and resulted in one of the number being shot and killed. Two white men, whose names Jenkins will furnish the authorities, are said to have heard the shot and seen the negroes bury their dead comrade and depart.

To verify the fact that the body had actually been interred, the two white men are said to have later visited the place and thrown aside sufficient earth to view the dead man's head. They are said to have told Jenkins of the murder yesterday, and he informed Teot last night. The latter immediately communicated with Deputy Lane. No other report of the matter has been made to the Henrico authorities. Jenkins has agreed to accompany the officers to the scene to-day.

JUDGE WILLIAMS HERE
Disposes of Pending Cases and Previews State Fair.

Judge Martin Williams, of Giles County, Democratic State leader in the House of Delegates, was in the city yesterday. He saw Governor Mann regarding the operation of the law dividing the tax on rolling stock among the jurisdictions. This case will be decided by the Supreme Court.

He left last night for the Southwest, and will spend the remainder of the week with Senator Byrd, completing his campaign in the State Fair. Judge Williams was an enthusiastic admirer of the State Fair, considering it far better than that of last year.

FLEECE DEALERS BY USING MAIL

Walter Buchanan, Who Posed as Louisa Merchant, Pleads Guilty in Federal Court.

GETS THREE YEARS IN PEN

Herman Grant Indicted for Robbing Woman Who Sought Government Pensions.

A plea of guilty was entered yesterday by Walter S. Buchanan, of Louisa, when arraigned before Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., in the United States District Court, on the charge of illegally using the mails to obtain goods by fraud. In consideration of the plea of guilty, Judge Waddill sentenced Buchanan to three years in the Federal prison in Atlanta.

Buchanan, who was indicted at the April term of this court, had been duping merchants outside of the State by representing himself as a former traveling salesman, who was about to set up a retail business in Louisa. On the strength of doubtful documents which he sent for inspection, wholesale dealers were persuaded to ship him merchandise, none of which was ever paid for. He was indicted first for representing himself as a salesman, second for posing as a bona-fide merchant, and third for illegal use of the mails. He had been working his clever scheme profitably for some time before falling into the toils of the law.

Indicted for Pension Frauds.
The grand jury returned two indictments, with a total of seven counts, against Herman W. Grant, of Norfolk, for posing as an employee of the Federal pension department for the purpose of obtaining illegal fees from persons seeking pensions.

Grant's alleged operations, involving the flooding of several women, extended over a period of several months before they were brought to the attention of the United States district attorney.

In the first indictment, containing four counts, he is charged with illegally posing as a pension officer, and with having used this means to defraud the Norfolk women out of a total of $20, promising in return for the fees paid him in advance, to secure favorable action on their applications. The second indictment, containing three separate counts, charges Grant with having demanded illegal fees in connection with the pension cases. His trial will probably be set for this term.

Mailed to Get Gum Opium.
The grand jury also returned indictments against Dewitt C. Bowman and George N. Goelrich, both of Fredericksburg, for having sent dried gum opium through the mails contrary to law. It is not believed that these shipments were made with the knowledge that the law was being violated, and the government is prosecuting principally for the sake of example.

A true bill, containing four counts, was returned against George T. Williams, of Brunswick County, for illicit distilling. His plant fell into the hands of the revenue officers in November, 1931.

William Miller, of Richmond, was indicted for illegally redilling a bottle which bore the government bottled-in-bond stamp.

SCARLET FEVER CASES
Four Reported at Methodist Orphanage, Which Is Now Under Quarantine.

Four cases of scarlet fever appeared among the children of the Methodist Orphanage, on the Broad Street Road, a week ago. The disease attacked the patients in a mild form, and two of them are now practically recovered, while the others are under recovery. Every precaution has been taken, and no further cases have occurred, although Dr. McGuire Newton is not yet satisfied that the danger has passed.

Since the discovery of the disease every person at the institution has been under strict quarantine. The superintendent, fifteen children who live in the cottage where the disease appeared have been completely segregated from the others and subjected to close observation by the physician. The patients themselves were removed to another cottage, where they have been kept under the care of a trained nurse.

The orphanage now has 111 children in its care. This is close to the largest number it has ever had, and to the time no death has occurred among the children. Dr. Newton was more hopeful over the outlook yesterday.

GOOCHLAND CLERK MAY BE INDICTED

Auditor's Employees Summoned to Appear Before Grand Jury Monday.

SHORTAGE MORE THAN $6,000

Surety Company Made Good to State and Is Said to Be Prosecuting.

Employees of the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts have been summoned to appear before the grand jury of Goochland County next Monday to tell what they know regarding the recent shortage of money in the county. The former clerk of the county, in his official accounts. It is understood that the real prosecutor is the bonding company which paid Mr. Monteiro's indebtedness to the State and which is said to have squared him with the county.

Such records as are necessary to show the status of the accounts of the former clerk will be taken to Goochland, where an effort will be made to secure indictments against Mr. Monteiro.

Shortage of $6,000.
The shortage of the clerk, which disclosed a remarkable condition of affairs, was accounted for by H. B. Boudard, a surety company, of this city. The original report of the accounts indicated an indebtedness on the part of the former Clerk Monteiro of $5,900, and a supplemental statement was afterwards made bringing the total to a little more than $6,000. When the report was received by the Board of Supervisors of Goochland County, they indicated its intention of bringing suit against his surety, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore. However, it is said the surety company made good the loss.

Certainly this is true so far as the State's claim was concerned. Shortly before the Boudard examination was made, in May of this year, Auditor C. Moore was on the point of suing the guaranty concern for the balance due the State from the clerk, covering the period from September 1, 1931, to January 1, 1932, when Mr. Monteiro went out of office, but the surety company paid the amount of the claim. Not only Mr. Moore, but Auditors Morton and S. R. Donohoe, had threatened to sue in order to secure settlements from Clerk Monteiro.

Overdrew His Salary.
Details of the Boudard examination were printed in The Times-Dispatch on June 6, 1932. The report showed that the clerk overdrew his official salary during his first six-month term in the sum of $1,600. In the second term he overdrew it $573. Delinquent taxes collected were not credited, and the Boudard secured possession of many checks paid to the clerk and letters from him acknowledging receipt of money, which was not credited by him nor charged to him. It may be that from this source he still owes the State some money.

The article of June 6 discussed another phase of the matter, as follows: "Perhaps the most remarkable transaction was in the matter of fees for indexing. In 1934 the Board of Supervisors authorized Clerk Monteiro to index the deed books, and order books to index the official records of the county, at a price of $925. It seems that in 1934 the clerk drew four warrants, amounting to $1,600, for this work, and later he drew $790. Not half of the deed book indexing has been completed, and the order books have not been indexed at all. Not more than one-third of the work has been done, and yet the clerk has drawn $2,390, when he agreed to do it all for $925. He claims he was due the amount he drew."

"Severe censure is visited by the Board reports on the Board of Supervisors. The shortage could never have occurred, it is stated, but for the grossest sort of negligence on the part of the board in supervising the public business. It seems to have been composed of supervisors who never supervised and who disregarded the people's interest."

CITY COMMITTEE TO MEET

For the purpose of making arrangements for public meetings in behalf of the Wilson-Miller campaign, City Chairman Miles M. Martin has called a meeting of the Democratic City Committee to be held Friday evening at 7 o'clock at Murphy's Hotel. It is the intention to hold two or three rallies in this city, at which well known men will be the speakers. The question of large gatherings or of smaller meetings under the auspices of political clubs will be taken up at the meeting.

Plans will be discussed for getting out the party vote in November.

Referred to Commissioner.
A charge order was entered by Judge R. Carter Scott in the City Circuit Court yesterday referring the suit of the Red Wing Milling Company against the Red Wing Milling Company and A. W. Harman, Jr., Treasurer of Virginia, to a commissioner in chancery of this court to examine certain bonds deposited with the Treasurer of Virginia, with instructions to report to the court the number of such bonds, their par and market value, and claims, if any, against same now pending.

PASSING GLANCE LED TO ARREST

Sol Bernstein Charges Lowell Broughton With Annoying His Wife in Street.

Lowell Broughton, eighteen years old, a visitor here from North Carolina, was arrested last night about 7:30 o'clock on a warrant sworn out by Sol Bernstein, of 413 Smith Street, accusing him of annoying his wife, Mrs. Sarah Bernstein, Broughton is said to have impudently stared at her, and his husband is alleged to have struck him for his rudeness. The affair occurred in Broad Street, at Smith.

All parties concerned immediately went to the Second Police Station, one block away, where Bernstein swore out the warrant for Broughton. The latter at first intended to swear out a warrant for Bernstein, charging him with assault, but changed his mind. He was bailed by his brother-in-law, J. W. Daniel, of 706 West Broad Street, whom he is visiting.

Broughton denied that he had an idea of annoying Mrs. Bernstein, and said he merely bestowed a passing glance upon her.

GET JEWELS FROM WALTER M'NEILL

Law Professor's Franklin Street Home Robbed of Valuables Worth $900.

Walter S. McNeill, professor of law at Richmond College, yesterday reported to the police that a trunk at his home, 411 East Franklin Street, had been broken into and jewelry, valued at $900, the property of his wife, formerly Mrs. M. C. Valentine, stolen. Just when the robbery occurred was not known, but detectives who were assigned to the case were told that the articles had been taken sometime since September 25.

They have been furnished with information, which it is expected, will lead to the recovery of the jewelry and the arrest of the thief.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeill recently returned from a trip through Europe, and the jewelry was packed in one of their trunks, which had not been opened since they returned home. The lock had been forced and the rings and pins taken by some one who evidently knew where they could be found.

The missing property was described as follows:

One solitaire diamond ring, one three-stone diamond ring, one star-shaped diamond and pearl pin, one pin of moonstones and pearls, one amethyst pin and one circle of amethysts.

With the consent of engineers for the United States government, the P. Sanford Ross Company, of Jersey City, which now has a large government contract for rock excavation in James River, will remove the rock ledge from in front of the new City Wharf.

The Committee on James River Improvement, Mayor Ainslie and City Engineer Bolling yesterday met Major E. E. Winslow, United States Army, the district engineer in charge of river and harbor work. Accompanied by Major Winslow and by Colonel J. B. Young, the United States government engineer in charge of the local work, the party proceeded to the City Dock, which was inspected, especially the new lock gates now being installed. The party then proceeded to the new City Wharf, now nearing completion, and boarded the city tug Thomas Cunningham, from which a water inspection of the work of installing the new lock gates and other construction was made. Major Winslow inspected the government work in the channel just inside the corporate limits, after which the tug steamed down as far as Drewry's Bluff.

At a conference held on board, Major Winslow gave his consent to the government contractor to use machinery brought here for government work to remove the rock ledge in front of the City Wharf, the estimated cost being $6,000.

Major Winslow expressed his high approval of the steps being taken by the city of Richmond in preparing increased shipping facilities, and in view of the situation said the government would gladly aid by allowing its contractor to divert a portion of his equipment to do the city's work.

Mr. Bolling stated that the city dock would be reopened to shipping in thirty days.

AGED WOMAN HELPS CAMPAIGN FUND

Octogenarian Collects Money From Boarders to Aid Woodrow Wilson.

Devoid with the weight of four-score years, but with a heart still full of patriotism, a Richmond woman brought $3 yesterday to add to the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund. She had read that if every Democratic voter would contribute 20 cents, the Wilson campaign could be financed. She conducted a boarding house and collected the money in small amounts from her boarders.

The aged woman brought the money in person, in small coins, just as she had secured it. She told of her hopes that a Democrat might be seen to be President and of her interest in the fight of the Jersey Governor for cleaner politics and for equal chance for all men. She uttered a fervent hope for his success at the polls.

The campaign fund now stands as follows:

Previously contributed.....$ 891 55
"Willie Well Water"..... 5 00
R. F. Harrison..... 1 00
A Virginia Lady..... 2 00
Total to date.....$100 55
